Short-Form Index (Teaching)

Faculty Feedback Questions

Practice questions

- did students work on the exercise individually, or in groups? If both, which do you think worked best, and why?

Case study questions

- did you assign the same case study to each student / group, or did different students / groups work through different case studies?

- Which case study(ies) did you use? If more than one, was any particular case study more useful than the others – and why?

- Any general comments on the case studies (e.g. are the contents generally pitched at the right level, is there too much / too little information, how could contents be improved?)

What part of the assignment did you think was the easiest for your students to complete, and why?

What part of this assignment did you think was the hardest for students to complete, and why?

Overall, did you think Short Form Index was accessible for all (or at least most) students? Were there any common problems / complaints? Please elaborate.

Do you think the Short-Form Index of Care is a useful teaching tool? (Please expand on a 'yes' or 'no' answer to help us understand your viewpoint)

As an instructor, did you feel confident about guiding your students through this activity? What problems, if any, did you experience – and how might they be addressed?

Do you have any suggestions for improvement to the Short-Form Index or to any of the other materials in this package?

Do you have any additional comments or recommendations?

Your feedback on the use of the Short-Form Index as a teaching tool is invaluable – thank you for taking the time to be part of this project. Please contact Alyson Caine at cainea@dickinson.edu and/or Ihuixaya Tapia at BTapia@csumb.edu to organise sending us your feedback and that of your students.
